

Salisbury Bulletin - Thursday Feb. 08, 1917

February 1, 1917, the price of the Bulletin will be $1.50 per year, in advance. We are reluctant to take this action, but are compelled to do so, by the greatly increased price of paper and all other materials used in printing.

SMITH OPERATED ON

Prof. L. E. Smith, principal of the Salisbury High School, was operated on for appendicitis at the Halser Hospital last week. He was in a critical condition for several days but is improving rapidly.

SMITH-BENEDICT

Gilbert C. Benedict of Green Bottom, W. Va., and Miss Marie Smith of Glenwood, Va. were united in marriage at the office of the Probate Judge last Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Dunn.

PLYMALE PROSPECTING

Extra Plymale of Thivener, left last week for Detroit on a prospecting trip. He may locate there, if he finds satisfactory employment. He has sold his live stock and rented his farm to John Walters.

OBITUARY

Helen M. Soles was born at Rodney, O., Nov. 17, 1856 and died at her home near New Albany, Ohio, January 27, 1917, aged 60 years, 2 months and 10 days. She was married to John W. Cheney, Nov. 24th, 1878. To this union were born three children, Clarence D., Floyd C. and Mamie who preceded her mother only two months. She also leaves to mourn their loss three sisters and two brothers besides a large circle of relatives and friends. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church of Rodney when a young girl under the ministry of Rev. C. P. Hamilton. The funeral was conducted by Rev. C. W. Brady of Linden.

HARTINGER APPOINTED

Jed Hartinger of Middleport has been appointed License Commissioner in place of Probate Judge elect, J. E. Carlinton resigned. We hope Mr. Hartinger may find a smoother road to travel than did his predecessor. Indeed we hope it may be so smooth that shortly the new commissioner may not have a blessed thing to do, not even to draw his salary. Our Middleport friend may not relish this sort of wish upon him but it's honest and we think just.

Mr. Hartinger went up to Columbus to take a week's course in agriculture. It does not appear whether this is better to qualify him for his duties as license commissioner. His added knowledge of rye, corn, hops, peaches and apples may contribute to the fury of his official duties. If so, amen. He can not be too well equipped for so delicate a job.—Pomeroy Leader.

LANDACRE FARM SOLD

Fred C. Wedemeyer, who recently returned from Iowa, has bought the Emanuel Landacre farm in Green Township and gets possession March first.

CALLED TO BALTIMORE

Dr. James T. Hanson was called to Baltimore, Maryland, Saturday, by the serious illness of his son-in-law, Bert Moore, of Charleston, who is in a hospital there.

NEW O. H. E. DRUGGIST

Garland Gillingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gillingham of this city, has accepted a position as druggist at the O. H. E., taking the place of Ed. Miller, who resigned recently.

BECOMES CONDUCTOR

Walter Blosser has been appointed conductor on the freight train between this place and Gallipolis, a train made necessary by the increased freight traffic between the two points. Mr. Blosser has been a brakeman on the morning passenger train to Logan for a number of years. Clyde Andrews takes Mr. Blosser's place on the passenger train.—Pomeroy Leader

AGED SLAVE DIES

The recent death of George Jenkins, an aged negro residing in this city, has brought attention to the fact that this old man was probably the last of the slaves of Albert Gallatin Jenkins, C. S. A. General Jenkins, whose remains lie in Spring Hill Cemetery, was a wealthy farmer of Cabell County. He lived on the vast Jenkins estate at Greenbottom and besides his broad acres owned many slaves. These slaves were freed by the war and many of them assumed the names of their former master, whose death, by the way, occurred on the battlefield or as the immediate result of wounds received there.

Azel McCurdy who was here yesterday from Greenbottom mentioned the fact that George Jenkins was buried on the old Jenkins place. In the plot set aside in the days before the war for the burial of the negroes belonging to the estate. Mr. McCurdy is of the opinion that this man was the last of those who, before the proclamation of emancipation belonged to the Confederate General.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

F. F. Thornlley has sold his low-er farm near Racoon Island to Reuben S. Block, who gets immediate possession of the place.

ADMINISTRATION IS STRONG

Cox is Given Credit For Manner in Which He Views Important Questions—Woman's Suffrage Hange in the Balance and is Now Up to the Senate—Gossip of Interest at the Capital City.

Columbus, O.—(Special.)—With the sixth week under way, the general assembly finds itself in the midst of some important work. One of the most important problems to be tackled will be that of approving the budget.

Governor Cox has denied audience to all visitors during the week, in order that he can give the budget his entire time. He will see only members of the legislature who desire to talk over pending legislation.

It has been found that the budget submitted by the outgoing administration is not adequate to the needs, and it will not be consulted in the framing of the state expense sheet. There will be numberless cuts in some of the departments, principally in the conducting of the board of administration. Whether the appropriations will be specific or not has not been made public.

Suffragists Still Busy.

The bill providing for presidential suffrage for women having gone through the house, it is now up to the senate. The resolution by Senator Holden, providing for a referendum extending full suffrage to women this fall, will come out of the committee with a majority reporting favorably. At first the committee did not make a favorable report.

Senator Holden contends that if the presidential suffrage bill becomes a law, it will be of no avail for four years, and that the people will have

JOHN E. HOLDEN.

Author of Resolution to Submit Equal Suffrage to Referendum.

an opportunity to express their views on the subject of full suffrage if his portant any deal with in a machinery of justice but it is not

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

...and it is

A NECESSITY OF THE DAY